to the stock and bond exchange. It went at 126. The last time it was sold the stock brought 190. It has been bid 110, while 140 was asked for it.This was the only sale reported today between the boards and no sale was made during the session this morning.Beginning tomorrow, all trains of the Oahu Railway & Land Company will be run over the Moanalua cutoff, and from now on Moanalua will be discontinued as a passenger station.
The new cutoff eliminates about three-quarters of a mile of track and

RESULTS IN TERM
IN JAIL FOR TRIOA weird, unaccountable trick of memory on the part of a witness in Circuit Judge Robinson's court this morning probably cost one Chinese and two Hawaiians their loss of liberty for terms ranging from three to ten years. For their part in the ruin of a young girl, the niece of the Hawaiian couple, they were convicted by the jury after seven minutes' deliberation and the sentence of imprisonment as mentioned above was imposed.David Kalua, the only witness called by the defense, was expected to save them by testifying that the girl was born on July 4, 1896, and was therefore barely 17 at the time the crime was committed against her, last July.
But by a strange trick of memory, when he was questioned on the witness stand under oath Kalua suddenly recalled that the girl was born on July 4, 1899, or three years later than he had first thought. This established the maiden's age at 14, a statement confirmed by the girl herself when she was testifying on behalf of the prosecution.Yee Chung, the Chinese, was accused of having paid Moke Kalewe and Malu Moke Kalewe a total of about $100, in the form of presents and cash distributed over a considerable period of time, and in return received their tacit permission to his illicit relations with the girl. The child is an orphan and for the last ten years has been living with the Hawaiian couple, her uncle and aunt, who were supposed to give the protection of foster parents to her.The charges made by the prosecution were fully corroborated by the child in her story told in court through an interpreter. Other witnesses were Dr. W. L. Moore, Detectives Arthur McDuffie and John Kellett and Attorney C. F. Chillingworth.The jury consisted of Sam Pupuli, John H. Thompson, William K. Macpherson, Charles J. Ludwigsen, Geo.
E. Bruns, George O'Neill, Charles H.
Hustace, James H. Fiedler, Eugene M.
Campbell, John Coffee, Charles O. Osborne and John W. Smithies.COAT MUST BE LOOSE FITTINGOf course you will have a new suit.
But what kind? There are only a few salient points you will have to consider. The coat must be loose fitting, a blouse effect is becoming with a large waist line. Some hint of fullness over the hips, and if you will have your skirt lifted up in front kind narrowing toward the bottom. Nearly every tailored suit has a break at the waist line, or below, and is enclosed with a belt or fancy sash knotted in front with long ends. The question is not if you will have a belt or not, but what kind, for there is a rage for sashes and girdles and dozens of styles to select from.It may take some time to decide on the low waistcoat but no suit seems complete without a waistcoat, which is loose fitting and reaches quite a bit below the normal waist line. Dark suits are enlivened by bright waistcoats. A clever idea is to buy some handsome brocaded material in the upholstery department and make your waistcoat of it, in that way procuring something a little different. If you have any old-fashioned buttons, use them.Self-piping silk cords manipulated in twists and quirks, fancy braids and fur bandings are appropriate for all except the strictly tailored suits. The hems of some of the skirts are faced with a contrasting color, while other skirts have the hem turned back on the right side. A favorite style skirt has the fullness drawn up at the waist line with a ruffle above the belt.Plaid coats with skirts of plain material or plaid skirts with plain coats have not as yet become ordinary just at present. For the dressy suits velvet in different shades with chamois vests, collars and cuffs are decidedly ultra.Waists to wear with tailored suits are crepe de chine, plaid silk, soft silk, plain or fancy silk jersey, and lingerie waists. A new material used in lingerie waists is book muslin, an old fashioned material which we call by a French name. The back and sleeves of soft silk models are cut in one. Many of the waists are made with basque. Bolero blouses with a peplum in the back are a good choice.Another dress of blue serge had a wide sash of black lined in gay striped silk. This was swathed around the hips and tied in front. The waist opened over a vest of the silk and was very blousy in effect.The strictly tailor made waist of tub silk and crepe has proved its value too much to be discarded. Long sleeves finished with frilly ruffles seem to be the thing. The better grade waists are usually fitted with Payadere sashes, the yokes are adjustable and are sometimes buttoned to the waist with small novelty buttons.STAR-BULLETIN GIVES YOU TODAY'S NEWS TODAY.MINES OF INDIA SHOW A VERY LARGE INCREASEOutput of Coal Fields Alone for Year Reaches Over Fifteen Million Dollars

[By Latest Mail]

CALCUTTA, India.—The growing importance of the mining industries of India is forcibly brought out by the annual report of H. H. Hayden, director of the geological survey, for 1912.
The aggregate value of the mineral production of the year reached the large total of £9,321,485, which represents an increase of £1,340,318 over the figures of the preceding 12 months. Figures for individual minerals, as Mr. Hayden observes, are equally satisfactory.Most of the principal products show substantial expansion and the only large reduction is in lead and jadeite, the decline in the latter case being ascribed to the political disturbances in China. Coal is, of course, by far the most important mineral product of India.The value of the output of the coal fields in 1912 reached a total of £3, 310,365, which represents an advance of £807,749, or over 32 per cent.
This increase was to a considerable extent the result of higher prices, the average price at the pit's mouth having been Rs. 3-6-0 per ton as against Rs. 2-11-4 in 1911.The aggregate output amounted to nearly 14,750,000 tons, which was almost 16 per cent more than the total of the previous year, and nearly 2,000, 000 tons in advance of the output of the boom year 1908, when the figure exceeded 12,750,000 tons and the average price at the pit's mouth advanced to Rs. 3-15-0.Mr. Hayden directs attention to the notable fact that the increase in the coal exports during the year amounted to no more than 36,408 tons. Nearly the whole of the enhanced production was, therefore, consumed in India itself. The increased quantity taken by the railways accounts for about one-fifth, so that practically the balance of increase, amounting to upwards of 1,500,000 tons, was employed in other industries. This is indeed an indication of "remarkably rapid industrial expansion."The following tables shows the values of the production of minerals for which returns are obtainable. It has not been customary hitherto to include in this table such materials as building stones, road metal and clay, since the returns are incomplete. To omit them, although they are increasing, is even more misleading than to include the returns in their imperfect state, and as the value is not inconsiderable the figures have been added to the table, they probably represent less than half the actual production of those materials:

Police Notes

Mrs. William L. Welsh, charged with perjury in testimony given at the hearing of an assault suit brought by Joseph Dias against J. J. Medeiros and Mrs. Welsh garnishee, was given more time in which to enter a plea when arraigned at district court this morning. Judge Larnach set the hearing of this case for next Monday morning.Taken to the hospital suffering from a cut across the back, bruises on the forehead and leg, Thomas Choy, a Chinese boy, stated to the police that he had been run down by a motorcycle driven by one whom he later identified as C. Marayama. The accident occurred on King street near the intersection of Bishop street. The Japanese rider was held for investigation by the officers.District Magistrate Larnach presided over a short session of police court this morning. Acting Prosecuting Attorney Chillingworth was obliged to attend the circuit court, where a number of cases demanded his attention.
The calendar, while of considerable length, was called and many cases were put over until the earlier part of the coming week. A quartette of defendants brought within the police dragnet upon a charge of drunkenness failed to respond to the roll call and bail in each instance was declared forfeited.OLD MAIDS IN
